

Keeping you “In the Know...” 8/7/15

Strengthening Partnerships and Programs:

- A CSC contingent of Alexis Vinick, Susie Meles, Judy Post, Deborah Ruffin, Paul Rosenberg, Carleton Toppin and Joel Zureick met with Brandon Wray, the regional Vocational Rehabilitation Supervisor of the Opportunities for Ohioans with Disabilities (OOD) Bureau of Services for the Visually Impaired (BSVI), and area BSVI Counselors and staff members at OOD’s office in Lakewood, Ohio on Monday, August 3rd. This is a quarterly meeting hosted by OOD to promote enhanced collaboration with OOD’s community rehabilitation providers. Protocols for service provision, billing and service reports were discussed. Mr. Wray asked that Alexis Vinick and CSC Supported Employment team members meet with Jessica McKee, an OOD Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor, to discuss the accommodations that will be needed for those who are blind or have low vision and who wish to participate in OOD’s Cleveland/Akron Job Fair on October 26th in Independence, Ohio.
- On Monday, August 3rd a group of Share The Vision volunteers met to continue Skills Enhancement/Motivational Interviewing training. Share The Vision coordinator Moreed Kamal, Social Work Manager Jim Hlavaty and Nicole Clevenger from the Center of Evidence-Based Practices at Case Western Reserve University provided training to Share the Vision volunteers to enhance their skills of reaching out to CSC clients. This was the last of six scheduled training sessions. Participants voiced enthusiasm for this opportunity to learn skills that will help them as volunteers, providing 100% positive feedback regarding the program.

- Mark Biro, a third-year medical student at Case Western Reserve University Medical School, visited CSC on Monday, August 3rd to demonstrate his hands-on model for teaching the visual pathway to the brain. He is interested in improving his model and eventually providing one to CSC for use with clients and staff.
- First-year students at Case Western Reserve University Medical School met one-on-one with volunteers with vision loss to discuss their experiences and provide advice for the future doctors. The interviews and information sharing sessions were held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week as part of the Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine's Chronic Conditions field experience. The goal of the Chronic Conditions field experience is to begin learning about medicine by hearing the patient's perspective about living with a chronic condition. Students may learn what having a specific condition means for someone's life, for the life of their family members or what they wished their doctors knew. CSC thanks the 15 volunteers and 13 students who visited the agency this week.

Highlights from Highbrook Lodge:

- Friend of CSC and Eagle Scout Daniel Kilroy recently completed his Eagle Scout project at Highbrook Lodge. Daniel has been working for over a year in the idea building, planning, implementing and evaluation of new guide ropes from the fire pit to Tall Timbers lodge. He replaced the old, frayed rope with covered steel, which is proving to be much more durable and safer for campers. In addition, Daniel continued the guide wires all the way to the entrance of Tall Timbers, where previously they went only about half way. Highbrook Lodge is thankful to Daniel for considering CSC when choosing his Eagle Scout project!

This was a part of the work Lubrizol Corporation did during their June day or service on the grounds. ## CARF Corner:

- Rights of Persons Served. How do we as an organization deal with allegations of infringements of a person's rights? CARF surveyors will wish to understand how the organization identifies protocols related to formal complaints, including grievances and appeals, or it may include these in a common policy and procedure covering complaints, grievances and appeals. Written guidelines for practices include procedures for levels of review and the rights and responsibilities of each party involved. Procedures are explained to persons served in a way that meets their needs.

Item of Note:

- For those that may travel to "that state up north," be sure to avoid the hogweed plant in Michigan. The sap on its leaves, roots, flower heads, seeds and stem hairs can cause blistering and scars if they touch bare skin. And if it gets in your eyes, it can cause permanent blindness.
